

MSO

The Peasant Prince

Illustration by Anne Spudvilas

MSO Relaxed, Sensory-Friendly Performance

Saturday 1 June 2024, 12.30–1.20pm
Arts Centre Melbourne, Hamer Hall

I am going to listen to the Melbourne Symphony Orchestra!

The Melbourne Symphony Orchestra is a group of people who like to make music together. The musicians play lots of instruments. Different instruments make different sounds in different ways. When lots of musicians make music together, we call them an orchestra.

I am going to hear the Melbourne Symphony Orchestra perform at a concert. A concert is when musicians play music for people to listen to.

Before the concert

I will wear comfortable clothes. Some people like to wear formal clothes to a concert. That's OK. Some people wear their usual clothes. That's OK too. Sometimes it is cold at a concert. I can wear a jumper, a scarf, or a hat to keep me warm.

I will bring my ticket or booking confirmation. My ticket tells me what time the concert starts. This concert will start at 12:30pm.

I can bring things that help me listen to the music. I can bring an iPad, a soft toy, headphones, fidgets, or something else that helps me listen.

Where to go

The concert will happen at a place called Hamer Hall, a big round building near the Yarra River. Hamer Hall is a place just for making and listening to music. Lots of concerts happen there.

I can get there in a car, by train, or on a tram.

It is good to try to arrive 30 minutes before the concert starts (that's 12:00pm). There will be lots of people at the concert. It will be busy when I arrive. I can go to the toilet. I can buy food or a drink before the concert. If I have a big bag, I can give it to the staff at the cloak room. They will keep it safe for me.

There will be people to help me at Hamer Hall. They are called ushers. They all wear black clothes so people know who they are. The ushers are here to help people have a good time at the concert. I can ask them questions.

When I am ready to go into the concert, my grown-up and I will go down the escalators, the stairs or the lift. The auditorium is a big room where the music happens. We will show the ushers our tickets.

There are lots of seats, and a stage for the orchestra to sit on.

The ushers can help me find a seat to sit on. Some people like to sit at the front where it is louder. Some people like to sit at the back where it is quieter. I can choose where I sit. If I sit upstairs, I will be careful on the steep stairs.

If I have a phone or an iPad, I will turn off the sound so it does not interrupt the music.

Before the concert, I can move around and talk to people. Musicians from the orchestra might be on stage already. They will be getting ready. It might be noisy.

Sometimes people are late for a concert. This is OK. The ushers will let me in as soon as they can so I can listen to the concert.

During the concert

When the orchestra is ready to start the concert, the conductor will walk on stage. The conductor is the person who leads the musicians. Her name is Ingrid Martin. The conductor will move her arms and body along with the music, to keep the musicians playing at the same time.

Photo credit: Caleb Miller / Ben Raynor / Sam Bell

Sometimes people clap for the orchestra before they start. This is a way to show the musicians we are excited to hear what they will play. When everybody claps, it can get very loud. If it's too loud I can cover my ears.

What will I hear?

The orchestra will play a piece called The Peasant Prince by the Australian composer Katy Abbott.

The Peasant Prince is also a picture book based on a true story. It is about a young boy and the magnificent adventures he goes on around the world, learning to become a dancer. Some parts of the story are exciting, and other parts are sad. Sometimes the young boy feels lonely and scared. But he will be okay and there is a happy ending.

Before the orchestra plays the whole piece, Katy and Ingrid will talk to the audience about the music.

To tell the story of The Peasant Prince there will be a narrator. His name is Bert LaBonté. The narrator will tell the story while the orchestra plays the music.

There will be a screen in the auditorium, like at the cinema. The screen will show the pictures from the book during the concert. The pictures will also help to tell the story of The Peasant Prince.

Everybody will listen while the musicians play. People listen in lots of different ways. Some people dance. Some people move their hands or feet. Some people sit still. Some people will make noises. I will try to be quiet, but it is OK if I need to talk to friends, my family, or my grown-up or if I make noises. I can use a fidget tool or my iPad while the orchestra plays the music.

The music might be loud. Some people like to wear headphones or earplugs.

I can take a break whenever I need to and leave the auditorium with my grown-up. There is a quiet area in the foyer where I can relax. I can go back into the auditorium whenever I am ready or watch the concert on the screens in the foyer.

When the music stops, I can clap my hands to say thank you to the musicians.

After the music stops, I can take a photo of the musicians.

After the concert

The music is finished when the conductor and the musicians leave the stage. It is time to go home.

I can do it again

The Melbourne Symphony Orchestra perform lots of concerts. My grown-ups can help me find out when we can go again.

I can also watch the Melbourne Symphony Orchestra on YouTube or at MSO.LIVE.

<https://youtube.com/@melbournesyphonyorchestra>

Tell us what you think

We want to hear from you.

You can call us on the phone.

The phone number is (03) 9929 9600

You can send an email to education@mso.com.au

We will listen.

We want everyone to enjoy music.
